

Factsheet – What is the Global Partnership?

In 2015, world leaders made a commitment to end all forms of violence against children by 2030, as part of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). This moment presents an historic opportunity to unite the world behind a global, national and local movement to protect the world's most precious asset – its children. In July 2016, the Global Partnership to End Violence Against Children was created to help achieve this ambitious undertaking – in every country, every community and every family. The Partnership offers the opportunity for organizations dedicated to ending violence against children to come together, combine their efforts and maximize their impact.

STRATEGY

Violence against children is a global phenomenon that could no longer be ignored and tolerated. This is why the Global Partnership exists.

PARTNERSHIP

The persistence, scale and gravity of the problem of violence against children require a global commitment to action. And solutions can be delivered globally only if energies, skills and resources of all part of societies all around the world are mobilised. The Global Partnership aims to reach all those who work for children, strengthening connections. It offers the opportunity for key stakeholders - governments, UN agencies, international organizations, civil society, academics, private sector and children themselves- to come together, combine their efforts and maximise their impact.

Stakeholders can choose to engage at three levels: as 'Friends', 'Members' and/or 'Partners':

- Friends of End Violence are individuals that will receive regular updates on the achievements of the Partnership.
- Members work to end violence against children in accordance with the End Violence principles.
- Partners agree to execute part/s of the End Violence business plan.

Join the Global Partnership in making a difference for children!

Let's give them a world in which every child grows up free from violence.

Find more information on: www.end-violence.org.

Terre des hommes is already part of the Global Partnership through Terre des hommes International Federation.

ACTIVITIES<sup>1</sup>

Though the Partnership relies on the engagement of its partners at all levels and through a range of activities to achieve its goals.

Activities (Business plan)	Short-term Outcome (Theory of Change)
1.1.1 Engage governments as partners in End Violence	1.1 Increased commitments by governments and partners
1.2.1 Implement a communications strategy on zero tolerance of violence against children	1.2 Increased advocacy by partners and children
1.2.2 Engage children and young people at all levels
1.3.1 Publish study on spending on violence against children	1.3 Increased financing at the country level
1.3.2 Develop methodology for tracking resources at country level
2.1.1 Facilitate technical and financial support to countries	2.1 Improved multisectoral domestic mechanisms
2.1.2 Develop and disseminate INSPIRE strategies	2.2 Scaled implementation of INSPIRE
2.2.1 Facilitate technical and financial support to implement INSPIRE in pathfinding countries
2.2.2 Support the creation of multi-stakeholder mechanisms	2.3 Increased coverage of comprehensive programmes, in particular for children in conflict settings and on the move
2.3.1 Facilitate technical and financial support (and the associated adoption of INSPIRE) for countries affected by humanitarian crises and armed conflicts and for children on the move
2.3.2 Develop strategic partnerships with child-focused constituencies
3.1.1 Hold a biennial solutions summit to exchange progress on the implementation of national road maps	3.1 Improved mechanisms for transnational actions that facilitate standard setting and reporting on progress
3.2.1 Publish a biennial report on pathfinding countries	3.2 Strengthened mutual accountability
3.3.1 Synthesize evidence, communicate findings and help countries to work together in real time	3.3 Improved data and evidence

<sup>1</sup> Global Partnership to End Violence against Children | Pathfinding Country Progress Report | December 2017

PROGRESS

From its launch in July 2016 to December 2017, End Violence made significant progress at the country level<sup>2</sup>.

ONE YEAR IN, WE ARE 169 PARTNERS

-
- 146 Civil Society Organisations
  - 7 Academic institutions
  - 6 UN agencies
  - 5 Philanthropic foundations
  - 5 Private Sector companies

JOIN US!

At least 13 countries have developed or are in the process of developing national action plans to end violence against children

Data collection has increased and continues in over 20 countries

13 government focal persons that lead multisectoral and multi-stakeholder groups have been appointed

INSPIRE a set of seven evidence-based strategies to prevent and respond to violence against children, has been disseminated through workshops and webinars and is being implemented in pathfinding countries

<sup>2</sup> Global Partnership to End Violence against Children | Pathfinding Country Progress Report | December 2017